JLG Telehandler

JLG Telehandler Training Markham - In the late 1960's John L. Grove, with his wife Cora embarked on on a cross country trip in their RV. Freshly retired, after spending several years working with his brother to develop their crane business into an market leader, John had no idea that momentous trip would permit JLG Industries, Inc to emerge. The world leader of mobile aerial work platforms and precision material handling equipment was the end result of a road trip.

During their journey, John reacquainted himself with former business acquaintances along the way. In combination with these conversations and a noteworthy event; two workers had been unfortunately electrocuted on scaffolding when the Groves were passing through the Hoover Dam. John uncovered a substantial marketplace for a product that could swiftly and securely elevate people in the air to accomplish maintenance and other building services.

After returning from their holiday, John set up a partnership with two of his friends and obtained a metal fabrication company in McConnellsburg, Pennsylvania. Opening with a small crew of twenty personnel, they produced and sold their first JLG aerial work platform in 1970. The business incorporates many of the simple design elements of that original lift into current versions.

Since then, JLG Forklifts have come a great distance from when Mr. John L. Grove returned from his fatefull cross-country trip and since the first JLG aerial platform entered the marketplace. As of today, the company has expanded itself into a number of global markets and continues to cultivate contemporary machinery to guarantee that consumers are able to become safer and more resourceful within their workplace.
